
In Clover by September

Red Clover can be sown until mid-September. Without nitrogen fertiliser, red clover leys produce a protein-rich 15t DM per hectare. With its high yielding ability, forage quality and suitability for silage, red clover swards could play an increasingly important role in sustainable systems of grassland farming in the future.

Date Posted: 9th August 2016