
On Track at Honeydale Farm

Work will begin this week on the new entrance to Honeydale Farm. The new track will replace the existing one to improve road safety since the new access, further up the A361 towards Chipping Norton, offers better visibility for vehicles arriving and leaving the farm. The traditional dry stone wall is also being rebuilt on either side of the new entrance and the track itself will be made of Cotswold stone. Planning permission for the new track was granted in 2015 but we've been busy implementing our eight year crop rotation in the fields and developing plans to replace the old farm buildings. It's estimated that the new drive will take two weeks to complete. Honk your approval as you pass!!
